They can't wait to grow up.
The right home will help give them a better world to do it in.

When you buy a home with the ENERGY STAR[®] label, you'll give your kids more than a roof over their heads. You'll give them a future. ENERGY STAR[®] labeled homes use at least 30 percent less energy than conventional homes for heating and cooling. That cuts your utility bills and, since most energy comes from burning fossil fuels, reduces air pollution. With ENERGY STAR[®] labeled homes, you'll save money while you save the environment. Now when you promise your kids the world, you can actually mean it. To learn more about ENERGY STAR[®] for homes, or to locate a builder in your area, visit www.energystar.gov or call 1-888-STAR-YES (1-888-782-7937).
